

The PPSR team have taken the stress out of loading our registrations. They have helped reduce the possibility of our company registering an invalid interest. What seemed like a daunting task is now so simple with the help of EC Credit Control. I can now rest easy knowing that my business has the best protection in place in the event of liquidation.

PPSR Services

The Personal Property Securities Register (PPSR) is now the single authoritative record of registered security interests in all types of personal property in Australia. It replaces all commonwealth, state and territory registers of security interests in personal property, such as the Register of Encumbered Vehicles (REVS) and the ASIC Register of Company Charges. The Personal Properties Securities Register is a national online register for businesses, consumers and the finance industry.

This may all sound complicated and even confusing, so we at EC Credit Control have established a new service to assist and ensure you can register your interest in goods you supply to your customers and also ensure your registrations are valid. The PPSR is available for many uses including:

- Business operators who supply goods on credit, consignment, or on a retention of title arrangement, can register their interest in the property on the PPSR, therefore protecting their interest in these goods.
- Business operators can (in some circumstances) register a security interest to protect themselves against failure of a regular monthly account customer.
- Finance companies can register security interests in an item of personal property on the PPSR.
- Consumers who are about to purchase valuable second-hand goods, can search the register before buying, to check that the property is free of registered security interests.
